Mongolia is the world's largest landlocked country and much of its area is covered by grassy steppe with mountains to the north and west and the Gobi Desert to the south. Chinggis Khaan is the National Hero. In 1206, he waged a series of military campaigns and formed Mongol Empire. Ulaanbaatar is the capital of Mongolia. It is the coldest capital city in the world. Mongolian people are friendly and nature loving.

Mongols are excellent, friendly, nature loving people

Modern Mongolia inherited a relatively good healthcare system from its socialist period. Mongolia has relatively strong health indicators. Mongolian Cuisine predominantly consists of dairy products, meat, and animal fats. The music of Mongolia is strongly influenced by nature, nomadism, shamanism, and also Tibetan Buddhism.
